Following in the steps of its fellow northeastern cities within the early Colonies, the city of Concord was established around the spirit of unity, harmony, and friendship. As the name "Concord" actually means "with harmony," these characteristics are seen all over the city. Residential, business, industrial, and historical elements are all blended together to make Concord an impressive cocktail of evolution and tradition. The city is home to the Charlotte Motor Speedway, which hosts many NASCAR races each year, as well as a number of historic sites.

THE CITY

oneinchpunch/Shutterstock.com

Concord was born of a scuffle between two factions of settlers who sought to determine where the location of Cabarrus County's seat should lie. Following the area's original 1750 settlement, the German and Scots-Irish settlers engaged in impassioned disagreements over the newly formed Cabarrus County. However and thankfully, the two sides were able to reach a consensus in 1796, leading to the creation of "Concord" on a 26-acre site. To honor their agreement, they named the city so in recognition of newfound "harmony."

Today much of Concord's appeal thrives in the Historic Downtown. Spanning a radius of two city blocks, the Downtown boasts 2 live theatres, 1 museum, 2 art galleries, 1 24-hour pottery studio, 1 botanical garden, a university, a pedestrian greenway system—and a gourmet French chocolate shop! There is also a comfortable combination of specialty shops and restaurants.

DO & SEE

DSC_0160 (image cropped)

With its historic charm and modern day appeal, Concord wins the hearts of many. Natural sites are abound for outdoors enthusiasts. Those seeking sports, head to golf courses whereas the most adventurers can have an adrenaline boost at the motor speedway.

Frank Liske Park

Located in the heart of Cabarrus County, Frank Liske Park was named in honor of Mr. Liske—who worked at the Stonewall Jackson Training School for nearly 50 years. Mr. Liske helped to retain the 238 acres from the state, which has since become this beautiful park. Spend the day at mini-golf, lunch at the picnic areas and take to the paddle boats.
