At 250 kilometres north of the polar circle, the summer sun shines for almost two months without going down, while the polar nights offer the most intense Northern Lights that can be seen. In Kiruna, you can go slalom skiing until midsummer or spend the night in a magnificent hotel built from ice. The phrase "kingdom of contrasts" is overused, but Kiruna truly embodies it.

THE CITY

Tsuguliev/Shutterstock.com

Kiruna is no spring chicken. If you are looking for life in the archipelagos, painted, wooden horses from Dalarna or hot nightclubs, you have driven about 1000 kilometres too far. Here, in Swedish Lapland, things are no longer in moderation—they are magnificent and dramatic. Kiruna is the city of one hundred days with no night and the midnight sun attracts tourists from all over the world. But during the winters, when the temperature sometimes gets down below -35 degrees, ice, snow, darkness and cold reign supreme. Visitors venture out on dog sledding tours among spruce trees weighed down by snow while the northern lights blaze in the heavens.

Wild nature is open 24 hours a day, year round, thanks to the unique Swedish legal right to common land. Kiruna is surrounded by an untouched mountain world, including Sweden's highest mountain, Kebnekaise, and more than 6,000 lakes and seven large, unspoiled rivers. Added to which there are seven national parks—everything from high alpine terrain with glaciers and windswept tundra to swampy ground and forests of mountain birch extending for miles after miles. Lapland is an amusement park for lovers of the outdoors. And it is enormous, larger than Denmark and Holland put together. Even for an average Swede—used to long journeys—the distances and barrenness of Lapland is something spoken about with respect and enchantment mingled with terror.

Kiruna—excellent as a base for trips in Lapland and Norrbotten—is 100-years-old, built beside the largest underground iron ore mine in the world. The lode of ore is four kilometres long and the mine is one thousand metres deep. Some twenty kilometres northeast of Kiruna, in Jukkasjärvi, is the world-famous ice hotel and farther to the northwest is Riksgränsen, one of the country's leading skiing resorts. A tip: If you are visiting Kiruna in the winter, ask for advice on how you should dress. It is possible to enjoy yourself in severe cold too. If you are visiting Kiruna in the summer—don't forget the mosquito-repellent!

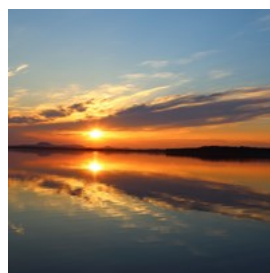

DO & SEE

Adrianna Grezak/Shutterstock.com

You can do slalom skiing here until midsummer, or spend the night in a magnificent hotel built out of ice.

The Midnight Sun

If you have never been in Northern Scandinavia during the midsummer period, the light is perhaps the most fascinating and obvious phenomena. The sun doesn't go down at all.

There is a good view of the surroundings from the city mountain, Luossavaara, about four km outside Kiruna. The midnight sun can be experienced between 27 May and 14 July in Kiruna.

The Ice Hotel in Jukkasjärvi

The world-famous Ice Hotel is located in Jukkasjärvi, 17 km from Kiruna. The world's largest hotel of its kind, made out of thousands of tonnes of snow and ice, is rebuilt every winter. You'll be nice and cool as you sleep after a drink in the Absolut Icebar, beautifully chiselled out of pure blue ice from the River Torne. Open from mid-December to the end of April. In the summer you can experience ice art in the hotel's Art Centre.

More Info: Monday to Friday there are a small number of buses from Kiruna bus station to Jukkasjärvi, but none at weekends. Transfer from Kiruna airport or train station can be booked at the hotel for 100 kr per person. On the banks of the River Torne in Jukkasjärvi.

Kebnekaise

From Nikkaluokta, 66 km west of Kiruna, there are first-rate skiing and trekking trails to, among other places, the top of Sweden's highest mountain - Kebnekaise (2103 m). Walk the first 19 km to Kebnekaise mountain station where you register for the next day's guide-led route to the top. The trip takes about 8-10 hours and requires a good level of fitness. Minimum age is 16.

SLOPE LIFE

Song_about_summer/Shutterstock.com

The area of Luossavaarabacken in Kiruna has three prepared ski runs, but if you are willing to travel a small distance, you can look forward to really wild and beautiful skiing. A unique collaboration between Björkliden, Riksgränsen, Narvik and Abisko has now made skiing possible in four good skiing areas with one lift pass (ask in the tourist office).

Riksgränsen

132 km from Kiruna there is a place where snow is absolutely guaranteed.

Riksgränsen is one of the best ski resorts in Sweden with a season that continues through to midsummer. Slalom skiing under the midnight sun is an unforgettable experience.

Address: Riksgränsen

Internet: www.riksgransen.nu

More Info: Länstrafiken (County public transport) and Kiruna Buses run between Kiruna and Riksgränsen. It is also possible to go by train with Connex.

Björkliden

The third best descent in Sweden at 538 metres.

The longest of the pistes is over three km. The Svarta Björn (Black Bear) area offers exciting off-piste skiing. Good skiing with short queues for the lifts and has been called Sweden's most underrated skiing resort by the magazine Åka Skidor ("Skiing").

Address: Björkliden

Internet: www.bjorkliden.com

More Info: Länstrafiken runs buses between Kiruna airport / Kiruna and Björkliden.

Abisko

Mount Nuolja, in Abisko, is Sweden's only skiing area with exclusively off-piste skiing. It demands a great degree of skill and personal responsibility.

DINING

Kzenon/Shutterstock.com

Souvas and renkok (reindeer stew) are two culinary experiences you could give them, at least, a try while in Kiruna. Souvas is smoked reindeer meat which is fried and served on, for example, pizza, in wraps or on thin, flat, unleavened bread. You can also enjoy venison, grouse, char, and cloudberry.

Restaurant Ripan

Serves specialities from the cuisine of Lappland. What about breast of grouse marinated in calvados with cranberry jelly or a cake made of frozen cloudberry with "coffee-cheese" marinated in Kahlua, for example? Open all year round, but perhaps best in the summer with an area for open-air dining, midnight sun, mosquitoes and minigolf.

BARS & NIGHTLIFE

Sergey Novikov/Shutterstock.com

At one time Kiruna had the highest density of pubs in Sweden, however, in the last five years it has gone downhill. If you are looking for a good party you would do better going for after-ski at somewhere like Riksgränsen. The live scene in Kiruna has a preference for blues, country, and Irish music.

SHOPPING

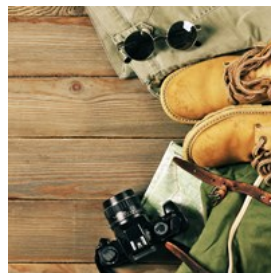

bokan/Shutterstock.com

A trip to Lapland offers unbeatable opportunities to buy both food delicacies and forest products from Norrland, and genuine Sami products. One of the best places for the former is Thornéus Renprodukter (Fru Wälivaaragatan 10).

For high quality products manufactured by Sami people, Wennberg Sameslöjd (Begnästareg. 2) is recommended. It has shops in both Kiruna and Stockholm. Outdoor equipment is to be found at, among other places, Vildmarkshörnan (Bergsmästareg. 2), which also sells what you need for hunting and fishing. The usual, large clothing multiples such as JC, Kappahl and Lindex are to be found in the shopping malls, Gallerian and Galaxen.

Vildmarkshörnan

This shop has a large variety of articles for outdoor sport, perfect for all those that love trekking, hiking or simply looking to gear up to better explore the beautiful nature of Northern Sweden.

TOURIST INFORMATION

stga/Shutterstock.com

Airport

Kiruna airport is located ten kilometres from the city centre and the journey time is about 15 minutes. Airport buses are only available at certain times of the year, mainly in the summer period.

For detailed information:

www.swedavia.se/kiruna/buss/

Taxis cost around 250 kronor for up to four persons (around 300 kr for nights and weekends). Airport taxis cost around 125 kr per person. A taxi to Jukkasjärvi costs around 250 kr, a taxi to Björkliden costs around 1200 kr and a taxi to Riksgränsen costs around 1200 kr. Many hotels have prebooked buses waiting at the airport.

Passport/Visa

Sweden can be visited visa-free for up to 90 days by citizens of most European countries, Australia, New Zealand, Japan, South Korea, Taiwan, Malaysia, Israel, UAE and most countries in America. If you are unsure whether or not you need to apply for a visa, we recommend contacting the embassy or consulate in your country. International (non-Schengen) travelers need a passport that is valid for at least 3 months after the end of their intended trip in order to enter the Schengen zone. Citizens of Schengen countries can travel without a passport, but must have a valid ID with them during their stay.

Best Time to Visit

One of the best time to visit Kiruna is summer: city is packed with visitors and locals enjoy long days as the sun never sets (or it does only for few hours, only to come up soon). However, this is peak season, so the prices on accommodation and flights are very very high. If you like winter and don't mind the cold, another good season to visit this city is from November to March, this time of the year you can enjoy skiing and snowboarding and, if you are brave enough to endure possibly hazardous weather, you can also experience the incredible northern lights.

Public transport

Within Kiruna city centre most places are walking distance.

Communications in the county are well developed, a necessity in a region where there are mile after mile of deep forests, rushing rivers and wilderness separating towns and villages from each other. Länstrafiken i Norrbotten AB is the principal provider of all public bus transport in Norrbotten and its routes run between the villages.
