THE CITY

Joakim Höggren / Luleå Turistcenter & Visit Luleå

Luleå was founded in 1621, however, the city's history is considerably older than that. Luleå was originally situated around the medieval church in Gammelstad "Old Town", 9 km inland. The amount of shipping through the harbour in Gammelstad increased during the 17th century, and because of the ongoing land rise, a deeper harbour was required. The city was then moved towards the sea to its present location, Luleå "New Town". The "Old Town" in Gammelstad continued to grow as a church town--today, a popular tourist attraction listed as a World Heritage Site, the Gammelstad Church Town.

World Heritage Gammelstad Church Town

The old town of Luleå - Gammelstad Church Town - located 9 km outside of Luleå city center, is the largest and best preserved church town in Sweden. This unique cultural environment with its medieval church and 408 small church cottages was added to Unesco's world heritage list in 1996. Through history visitors to the church travelling from afar, have been staying overnight in the cottages ever since the 16th century.

In the middle of the town you will find Nederluleå church - It is richly decorated with one of the finest altar screens in the country, dating back to 1520's.

Don't miss Hägnan in Gammelstad - an open-air museum showing an historical environment with buildings from the 18th until the 20th century. Hägnan gives a realistic picture of how an old village along the coastline of Norrbotten could look like.

The church town is a popular destination for excursions and perfect for picnics.

Hiking in Luleå

Luleå has a wide range of hiking trails, each with its unique character and showcasing distinctive parts of Luleå's natural environment. Several are within walking distance of the city center, others are easily reached by bus or bicycle. If you have access to a car, then the possibilities are endless. Hiking in Luleå is almost like strolling through the history of this unique city. For instance, you can begin by hiking across the large shingle fields on Bålingeberget – the first spot to rise from the sea, following land uplift after the recession of the inland ice sheet. At the time, Bålingeberget was just in islet in the middle of the sea and the waves shaped the rocks that now make hiking on the mountaina fascinating experience.

Continue through the history of Luleå by visiting the place we now call Gammelstad Church Town, a UNESCO World Heritage Site and once the centre of Luleå, before the city was moved in the 17th century. Today, it is a popular tourist destination and there are also many rare birds in the area. Here, you can hike on what was once the seabed, now a beautiful forest with pleasant walking paths. When you have made your way to the modern city of Luleå, on the peninsula by the coast, you will find many other amazing areas to explore on foot. When people moved here in the 1600's, they also began exploring the surroundings. This helped create several excellent hiking trails near the city centre, such as one of the locals' favourites, the trail around Hertsöträsk.

Luleå has a lot to offer hikers. We have collected our favourite destinations in our hiking guide and we hope you will enjoy them just as much as we do.

You can get your own copy of the hiking guide through the link below or pick it up at the Luleå tourist center in Kulturens hus.

Luleå Cathedral

The Luleå cathedral was build after the great fire in Luleå city in 1887. The fire completely destroyed the old church on the site, Gustaf's church, which was from the late 1700s.

Luleå cathedral is built in brick in neo-Gothic style. When the church was opened in 1893, it was called Oscar Fredrik's church after King Oscar II. In 1904, the Luleå cathedral became Luleå's foundation.

The architect who designed the cathedral was Adolf Emil Melander, Stockholm. The cathedral is cross-shaped, 54 meters long and 35 meters wide. The church tower is just over 60 meters high.

Architect Knut Nordenskjöld was behind the new design. Wall paintings and star decorations in the ceiling were removed and the entire interior was painted white. Remains of the old style still appear in church entrances.

Canoe and kayak

Luleå's close proximity to water means that water sports have a natural place in our everyday lives. This can be seen not least in the skilled canoers nurtured by the city - members of Sweden's national team such as Joel Elenius and Henrik Strand have honed their skills on Skurholmsfjärden.

Training opportunities for elite canoers are good but options for leisure paddlers who wish to experience Luleå's natural environment are even better. Rent a canoe, take a look at our kayaking guide and get out there. It is an experience not to be missed. In Luleå you can choose between canoeing on the open sea, along our rivers or on our lakes. You are never far away from calm kayaking waters. To allow you to make the most of your experience we have developed a kayaking guide in collaboration with experienced practitioners, our Kayaking guide to help you find the waters that are just right for you. We recommend that you either download the guide, or that you collect a printed copy from the Luleå Tourist Centre, found inside Kulturens Hus in central Luleå. In the kayaking guide we have compiled a selection of both simpler and more challenging routes, covering day trips as well as longer excursions.

If you want to take a tour with a skilled instructor, there is options for both beginners and experienced kayakers. Also rentals for unguided tours.

Hiking in Luleå

Luleå has a wide range of hiking trails, each with its unique character and showcasing distinctive parts of Luleå's natural environment. Several are within walking distance of the city center, others are easily reached by bus or bicycle. If you have access to a car, then the possibilities are endless. Hiking in Luleå is almost like strolling through the history of this unique city. For instance, you can begin by hiking across the large shingle fields on Bälungeberget - the first spot to rise from the sea, following land uplift after the recession of the inland ice sheet. At the time, Bälungeberget was just an islet in the middle of the sea and the waves shaped the rocks that now make hiking on the mountain a fascinating experience. Continue through the history of Luleå by visiting the place we now call Gammelstad Church Town, a UNESCO World Heritage Site and once the centre of Luleå, before the city was moved in the 17th century. Today, it is a popular tourist destination and there are also many rare birds in the area. Here, you can hike on what was once the seabed, now a beautiful forest with pleasant walking paths. When you have made your way to the modern city of Luleå, on the peninsula by the coast, you will find many other amazing areas to explore on foot. When people moved here in the 1600's, they also began exploring the surroundings. This helped create several excellent hiking trails near the city centre, such as one of the locals' favourites, the trail around Hertsöträsk.

Luleå has a lot to offer hikers. We have collected our favourite destinations in our hiking guide and we hope you will enjoy them just as much as we do.

You can get your own copy of the hiking guide through the link below or pick it up at the Luleå tourist center in Kulturens hus.

Pastabacken

Pastabacken is a landmark for all pasta aficionados in the region. It is actually one of the oldest operating restaurants in Luleå. Its name, literally "the Pasta Hill" comes from the sharply inclined street, Magasingatan, where it is located. It is a family business, guided by a passion for food and drink. In the open and charmingly chaotic kitchen, pizza tradition and the meat culture of Argentinian cuisine flourish side by side. Try their very own chorizo or the Lomito and Vacio meat dishes. When it comes to pizza, some gourmets would recommend the Internacionale with tenderloin and gorgonzola. Regardless of your choice, Pastabacken is always a pleasant, cozy place to enjoy good food. If you are really lucky, you might be treated to guitar playing and Spanish serenades, but that is not on the menu.
