THE CITY

Malmö Turism

Malmö, originally founded in the late 1200s, was initially governed by the Danish crown, and it wasn't until 1658 that the city transitioned into Swedish control. Nevertheless, the process of integration and reaping the benefits of this shift took nearly two centuries.

Once a thriving industrial city, Malmö faced a period of decline following the downturn of its shipbuilding industry in the early 1970s. This resulted in emigration and a loss of confidence. However, in recent years, Malmö has experienced a remarkable resurgence. The Öresund Bridge, reconnecting the city with Denmark, opened in June 2000, breathing new life into the region. The following year, the Housing Exhibition transformed Malmö's waterfront, and the iconic Turning Torso, one of Europe's tallest and most awe-inspiring apartment buildings, was erected in the old shipyard district, attracting large numbers of fascinated spectators.

Malmö is blessed with an abundance of parks, where locals and visitors can enjoy leisurely picnics and relaxing strolls. Kungsparken and Slottsparken are popular choices, while Pildammsparken features expansive open spaces and two large lakes teeming with diverse birdlife.

For a lively and vibrant experience, Möllevångstorget is the place to be, with its bustling open market offering a wide variety of goods. This vibrant square, known as "Möllan," is also a culinary hub, boasting a dense concentration of eateries that cater to all tastes.

Party-goers will find several clubs in the Möllevången area, each with its own distinct musical offerings. Well-known establishments such as Kulturbolaget, Babel, and Moriskan are among the hotspots for nightlife.

Malmö's culinary scene is a melting pot of flavours from around the world, with a rich variety of restaurants to choose from. The city also thrives with cultural experiences, including performances, art galleries, and museums. In recent years, Malmö has constructed two large stadiums, Malmö Arena and Eleda Stadium, hosting various public events and sporting activities.

DO & SEE

Malmö Turism

Malmö has earned a well-deserved reputation for its diverse and sophisticated art and cultural scene. Here, you will find a plethora of enriching experiences suitable for the whole family. The city takes pride in its extensive investment in a wide range of cultural offerings, encompassing both prominent institutions and numerous smaller operators and activities. Moreover, Malmö showcases the finest examples of Scandinavian and international design, featuring exquisite furniture and furnishings, jewellery, and textiles.

In addition to its vibrant cultural scene, Malmö boasts abundant green spaces both within the city centre and throughout the town. Notable examples include Kungsparken, Slottsparken, and the expansive Pildammsparken. Malmö Folkets Park is Sweden's oldest "folkpark" and offers beautiful lawns for relaxation, along with cafés, restaurants, a terrarium, adventure golf, horse riding, and live entertainment during the summer season.

Don't forget! Malmö's glorious two-kilometre-long beach Ribbersborg Beach & Kallbadhuset, or "Ribban" is within walking distance from the town centre.

Malmö Museum

Southern Sweden's largest museum is located on Malmöhusvägen in the heart of Malmö in a beautiful park-like setting surrounded by canals.

Here you can see everything from the Nordic region's oldest surviving Renaissance castle to a real submarine and fantastic vehicles. The museum's permanent exhibitions focus on history, natural history, technology and seafaring. There are also about a dozen temporary exhibitions every year. Next to it is the Fiskehoddorna, a popular seafood market where fresh fish is sold over the counter.

Malmö's Beautiful Parks

your desires.

Whether you're seeking tranquility, ecological marvels, or invigorating exercise, Malmö's green areas offer a wealth of experiences to satisfy

Discover the enchanting allure of Kungsparken, Malmö's cherished gem and the city's oldest public park, established in 1872. Immerse yourself in the park's charming English-style design, where strolling amidst the verdant landscapes sets the stage for unforgettable outdoor adventures and delightful picnics.

Indulge your senses in the eco-friendly haven of Slottstädgården, where nature's bounties await. Here, you can immerse yourself in a world of freshness, purchasing vegetables plucked straight from the fertile soil, vibrant flowers, and plants. Keep an eye out for the bustling activity of SVT's popular TV program, Garden Friday, which finds its home within these beautiful gardens. You might even catch a glimpse of the skilled gardener, John Taylor, tending to the blooming wonders. Nestled in the heart of the park, Tarek Taylor's beloved outdoor garden café invites you to unwind amidst the lush surroundings, providing a refreshing retreat during the sun-kissed summer months.

Prepare to be captivated by the grandeur of Pildammsparken, Malmö's largest park. Originally crafted for the Baltic Exhibition in 1914, this expansive landscape was further perfected in the 1920s under the visionary guidance of city engineer Erik Bülow-Hube. Explore the park's vast expanse and discover some of Malmö's most revered jogging tracks, inviting you to embark on invigorating runs amidst the picturesque scenery.

Turning Torso

The Turning Torso is a neo-futurist skyscraper designed by Spanish architect Santiago Calatrava and built in 2005. At 190 metres, it was the tallest building in the Nordic region until September 2022, when it was surpassed by Karlatornet in Gothenburg, which is still under construction.

The Turning Torso consists of nine cubes with a total of 54 floors, where winding from base to peak is 90 degrees. Today, the Turning Torso is a residential building with 147 apartments of various sizes, from one-bedroom studios of 45 square metres to three-bedroom flats of 190 square meters. During the summer you have the opportunity to visit its top floor.

Malmö Konsthall

Malmö Konsthall, one of the largest exhibition halls for contemporary art in Europe, continuously curates art that both challenges and inspires its visitors. Since its inauguration in 1975, architect Klas Anshelm's vision of a "Big low concrete box open to the park and light of the sky" has become a reality, creating a unique space that harmoniously merges art, architecture, and nature.

With its expansive 2,000 square metre exhibition space, Malmö Konsthall provides a platform for three to four exhibitions each year. These carefully curated showcases feature a diverse range of local and international artists, fostering a dynamic exchange of ideas and perspectives. The hall's remarkable flexibility, generous space, and abundant natural light make it an ideal venue to showcase contemporary art in all its forms.

Ebba's House

Ebba's House is a fascinating museum, which stands as a testament to the past, preserving a slice of history and offering visitors a captivating journey into the lives of Malmö's residents from a bygone era.

The house, originally built in the 18th century, was owned by the Olsson family. Ebba and her mother were skilled lace and trimmings makers who worked from home. After her mother's passing, Ebba continued to live alone in the house. In 1984, due to her age, Ebba had to relocate, and she generously donated her home to the Malmö Museum. Following her passing in 1989, the museum acquired her old furniture and restored the house to its original state. In 1991, Ebba's House opened its doors as a local history museum, allowing visitors to step back in time and appreciate the rich cultural heritage of Malmö.

Architecture

Malmö boasts a fascinating blend of architectural styles, heavily influenced by both Denmark and the broader European context. One noteworthy architectural gem can be found in Kungsparken, where the award-winning City Library stands. This building consists of two interconnected parts — an older section and a newer addition known as "The Calendar", designed by Danish architect Henning Larsen.

Situated just a stone's throw away from the Malmö Central Station, Stortorget is home to the Town Hall. While its original construction dates back to 1546, the building has undergone significant transformations throughout the centuries. Notably, in 1860, architect Helgo Zettervall revamped the façade in the Dutch Renaissance style, lending the Town Hall its distinctive appearance.

Located in another section of the expansive square is Kockska Huset, an exceptionally well-preserved sixteenth-century structure built from red brick and adorned with intricately decorated stepped gables. Today, this building houses one of Malmö's most renowned restaurants, Årstiderna (The Seasons), nestled within its basement vaults.

Just behind the Town Hall, the tip of St Petrikyrkan (St Peter's Church) peeks into view. As Malmö's oldest standing edifice, this architectural marvel dates back to the early 14th century and showcases the Baltic brick Gothic style. In the early 1900s, significant efforts were made to develop and restore the medieval paintings adorning the church's vaults, adding to its historical and artistic significance.

Marinas of Malmö

Malmö has three marinas that welcome guest boats: Dockan Marina: Dockplatsen 1, Malmö
Limhamns Småbåtshamn: Vågbrytarvägen,

Limhamn

Lagunen Småbåtshamn: Vaktgatan 9, Limhamn

All the marinas in Malmö are conveniently located near the city centre. Dockan Marina is just a ten-minute walk away from the Central Station. If you visit Limhamns Småbåtshamn, you can borrow bikes for free, and Lagunen has a bus stop for city buses within a ten-minute walk.
