10 points of interest on Öland

VIDA Museum & Art-gallery

The VIDA Museum & Art-gallery is situated on route 136, nine kilometres south of Borgholm, Öland, with a beautiful hilltop setting, overlooking the waters of Kalmarsund.

The present 2000 m² building, in glass, concrete, iron and wood, lies on a historic site just north of the Halltorp Inn. At the time of its inaugural opening in June, 2001, the newly-built museum featured an art-gallery and two wings devoted, respectively, to the work of Ulrica Hydman-Vallien and that of Bertil Vallien. Here can be seen the entire range of their artistry, encompassing four decades. The most important starting-points from the early 1960s, to the very latest work in glass, ceramics, sculpture and painting are shown in the museum.

Solliden Palace

The Royal Family's summer residence is located on Öland. Solliden's Palace parkland is open for visitors 15/5 - 15/9. Open: Daily 11.00 am - 18.00 pm (gates close 17.00).

"Welcome to the beautiful park of Solliden with its luxuriant trees, shrubs and flowers. Solliden is a part of our cultural heritage, which is of special concern to me. It was built by my great-grandmother, Queen Victoria, and was completed in 1906. When my great-grandfather, Gustav V, died in 1950, I inherited the palace. It is my intention to preserve Solliden, so that future generations will be able to enjoy its unique and glorious gardens."

Ölands Museum Himmelsberga

Himmelsberga is Öland's most genuine village and now preserved as an open air museum with enclosed farms built along both sides of the narrow village road.

The heart of the museum consists of several large farms with buildings dating back the 18th and 19th century. All the original furniture is still to be found in the cottage and, outside, in the old stables, can be seen all the tools and equipment that were used on the farms.

The coffee shop sells freshly baked bread and hot pies and you can buy genuine Öland handicrafts in the village shop.

Himmelsberga has exhibitions of arts and crafts in its two galleries, and there is also an art museum with a collection of older and modern Öland paintings.

Långe Jan and Ottenby bird Observatory

Welcome to Ottenby and southern Öland. Ottenby, on the very south of the island of Öland, is one of the top areas for birding in Sweden - 377 species have been observed here. A visit to Öland offers fantastic opportunities for bird studies all the year round.

Ottenby Bird Observatory was founded in 1946 and has ever since performed studies on migrating birds. Around 20000 birds are ringed each year. Also, the bird observatory is involved in bird migration research projects on the island of Capri, Italy, and in Nigeria.

Skäftekärr Iron Age Village

In Skäftekärr, near Böda in the northern part of Öland, is an iron age village consisting of about 20 well preserved stonehouse foundations spread over approximately 10 yards dating from the period of 300-700 A.D.

In the middle of the iron age village are the remains of a large farm consisting of four housefoundations.

In the new iron age landscape, right next to the foundations, is a reconstruction of one of those houses and a fire ruin from a previously reconstructed house.

Around the reconstructed yard there is a reconstructed iron age landscape with fenced fields, meadows, and pollarded trees.

In the park grows about 140 different trees and bushes (arboretum). There are organized guided tours which are related to the site's more than 150-year history of forestry.

Beaches where children can play, and where you can take a refreshing dip. Art and handicraft for all tastes. Swedish and Scandinavian history. Entertainment ranging from zoo to night clubs.

Biking Trails

The cycle paths are clearly marked along Öland's byways. The Ölandsleden cycle path's 45 kilometres take you over the whole island, or you can choose a shorter section. The Sverigeleden path runs from the Öland Bridge to Grankullavik. The Ecopark cycle path runs for forty kilometres in Böda Forest. Böda Forest is one of Sveaskog's Ecoparks.

Hiking trails

There are plenty of long-distance footpaths and marked trails on Öland. Böda long-distance footpath, a 50 km long trail that runs from Byerum Sandvik to Nabbelund on north Öland, is part of Sveaskog's Ecopark. Hälans Stig, or the "Path to Health," is a wonderful trail in Borgholm on central Öland in a varied environment. It runs through a nature reserve at Borgholm Castle. The trail is 4 km long. "Borg till borg" ("Castle to Castle") is an approximately 16 km long footpath that runs between two ancient forts, Gråborg and Ismantorp, that are located in the middle of the island. Mörbylånga path is about 77 km long and runs through unique natural and cultural environments from Träffpunkt Öland tourist office at the bridge abutment to Ottenby Youth Hostel at the southern cape.

Stora Alvaret

Stora Alvaret is a 37 kilometre long and 15 kilometre wide area of barren limestone plain covering the southern parts of Öland. The area comprises a quarter of the island’s total area. Alvaret’s principal distinguishing feature is treeless moorland with the bedrock consisting of Ordovician limestone, often exposed or only covered with a thin layer of earth. There are smaller areas of bare limestone plain in other parts of Öland and in some places in Västergötland, including Kinnekulle. With a special flora and a large number of unique species, the area has been used historically as pastureland. The grazing is necessary to prevent the area becoming overgrown. Along with southern Öland’s cultural landscape, Stora Alvaret has been designated a world heritage site by the UN agency, UNESCO.

Geology on Öland (GeoPark Öland)

On Öland, from the north to the south, visitors can catch exciting glimpses of the island’s fascinating geological history. In the limestone quarries with their steep walls, you can ponder the evolution since the time when clay particles and chalky sludge deposits started to form Öland’s sedimentary bedrock with its fossilised octopi and other prehistoric animals. Each millimetre of limestone represents 1,000 years!

Lådbilslandet (Cartie Country)

Lådbilslandet (Cartie Country) is aimed at children between 2 and 10 years old. Located near Löttorp on the north of the island, Lådbilslandet is one of Öland's biggest tourist attractions.

Children can drive their own "soap box cars" in a miniature town centered around a church, on roads that wind across the landscape. The cars have real engines and drive on tarmac roads, complete with bridges, roundabouts and crossings. You can even get the Cartie Country driving licence! Choose if you want to drive a regular car, bus, police car, truck or articulated lorry. Why not try them all? For those who like Formula 1 racing, there are two separate courses - one for small and one for bigger children. There is also a motocross track, where you can compete with your friends on our three-wheel motorcycles.

If you like a more relaxed pace, you should try the Farming Country. Here you can drive miniature tractors with different types of farm machines. There is plenty of space, so if you are visiting Cartie Country for the first time and want to try out steering and stepping on the gas before you enter the traffic, we recommend you start your cartie experience here.

If you still feel energetic or want to try some other fun in between, there is a small fun-fair with roundabouts, a bouncy castle and a playground. New this year is an obstacle course, which can be a challenge even for the fittest. After the hardships of the obstacle course, why not take a short rest? Rides on the miniature train or a rafting trip across the pond with friends are popular pleasures. Nor do you skip an icecream on a lovely summer's day like this!

Five rides in different vehicles, tractors or on the motocross track are included in the entrance fee. Each ride takes about 8-10 minutes, depending on whether it is in Cartie Country, Farming Country or on the motocross track.

According to the families who experienced Cartie Country, a visit may take between 3-5 hours.

Additional rides may be purchased separately. Included is unlimited access to the playground, bouncy castle, roundabouts, miniature train, rafts and adventure course.

Paradisverkstaden Ceramic Workshop

Paradisverkstaden is a family business that designs and produces ceramics in its workshop and studio on Öland. It all started at Capellagården, Carl Malmsten's school in Vickleby on Öland.

Olof trained as a potter and Eva as a textile artist. After further training and practice in France and Denmark, they started Paradisverkstaden in 1975. From the outset, the design language was unique with its folds, spheres and inward ridges. The origin lied in Olof's shapes and Eva's decorations. At an early stage, they also began to take on apprentices interested in further education after various art schools.

In the 1980s, they developed the popular series "Blue and Pink Floral" and "Slottskrukan" (Castle Pot). They were named Purveyor to the Court in 1986.

Olof turned bird baths, candelabras, and multi-level étagères which Eva decorated in relief. As demand increased, part of the raw goods production was outsourced to potters on Gotland. Production was later moved to a small workshop near Gdansk in Poland, due to a shortage of professional turners over here and good craftsmanship over there.

In the 1990s, the colour scale exploded in Eva's collection "Daring Dots and Stripes". Olof developed new double-throw techniques, producing forms that Eva painted in gold and platinum. They exhibited at the NK department store and interior design company Svenskt Tenn, and started to participate in exhibitions in Stockholm and Frankfurt. Using fyle clay, they developed the Nature series and the Beach series in white and platinum, as well as a new decorative technique with the Spira (sceptre) dinnerware series. In collaboration with Millesgården, they made their first cast collection called "Seed Pod", which is still growing and has now become a classic.

While Eva continued to produce unique plates and urns with hand-carved reliefs, Hannah Paradis released her first collection of vases and pots in lush shapes and checkered decorations. Moa Paradis developed the Line collection, containing garden products such as hanging bird baths, funnel-shaped pots and the beautiful small candlestick holder "Linje", which is one of Paradisverkstaden's best-selling products.

In the all-new dinner service "Krasse/Fantasi" (Cress/Fantasy), Eva's paintwork merges with Hannah's shapes and Moa's lines. Both daughters work with design and are responsible for market exposure and production, while Olof designed all the new Paradisverkstaden buildings. The new workshop was inaugurated in 2014. Here you can see the various production stages in pr particular.

Its restaurateurs aim to develop collaboration between members, but also with local food producers, in order to create a well-reputed cuisine on Öland. Focus is also put on extending Öland's tourist season, and providing information about opening hours during the off-season.

The members are offered courses within the culinary field. The collaboration with the hotel and restaurant school on Öland is seen as an important initiative to satisfy future staffing needs in the culinary industry.

Please visit one of our association members for an enjoyable culinary experience!

Ekerum Resort Öland

For a long time Ekerum Resort Öland has been one of the top golf courses in Sweden. With two 18-hole courses and one pitch, we can offer golf for everyone from beginners to professionals.

Our golf courses are named after the two lighthouses in the north and south part of the island Öland, called Långe Jan and Långe Erik. During the winter of 2014/15 a large scale renovation of Långe Jan was done and the work was announced among Sweden's golfers as the most exciting project. The course was completely transformed with a new design with sand and dry meadows where plants and flowers typical of the island Öland were planted. The renovation was acknowledged nationally and only one year after the course was finished in the fall of 2015 Långe Jan was nominated in World Golf Awards as Sweden's Best Golf Course - and has been nominated every year since then. Ekerum Resort Öland won an award for being the World's Best Eco Friendly Golf Facility in the World Golf Awards 2017 & 2018. Sweden's golf association announced Ekerum as winners of the nature and environment award in 2017 as well as Sweden's Best Golf Resort 2017.

Långe Erik is characterized as more of a parklike course with beautiful scenery as well as challenging water hazards and white bunkers.

We can offer two courses with different characteristics in nature, formation and gameplay.

SHOPPING

Visitoland

Summer, sun, shows and shopping, these are Öland's four aces. The fact is that the best shopping in the entire region is available on the island, which has a glorious mix of shopping centres and small, original shops and design studios.

The two largest collections of brand shops and multiples are in Öland's Köpstad in Färjestaden and in the central parts of Borgholm. However, department stores and shops with summertime opening are just about everywhere, often with a product range adapted to the time of the year. You can fit yourself out here with genuine - or sometimes fake - brand label clothes and shoes, everything on the cheap.

Don't forget to drop in on our potters and other craftspersons. They are good, that's a fact! There are also plenty of flea markets throughout the province. Neither should you miss Öland's only glassworks. It is located on route 136 in Kastlösa. And while you're on the way there it's worth stopping at Britts Manufaktur in Degerhamn (Södra Möckleby) and at Naturiosa in Grönhögen. They are both shops with a highly individual style. If you're lucky you'll find articles of clothing or odds and ends that you will fall in love with, an original Stetson hat or a rare Öland book for example.

Experience genuine markets or the great supply of farm shops with local products. Every day in the market square in Borgholm and on Saturday mornings in Färjestaden and Mörbylånga. That's quality shopping!
