Zürich is distinguished by its unparalleled selection of stores lining the world-famous shopping mile, the Bahnhofstrasse, not to mention its broad choice of leisure activities. Numerous gastronomic establishments in the surrounding region pamper food lovers with all manner of culinary delights. Almost 500 bars and clubs provide a wide variety of entertainment. Zürich is also the ideal departure point for all kinds of excursions, such as to the Rhine Falls or the chocolate factory.

THE CITY

RossHelen/Shutterstock.com

The River Limmat divides the city of Zürich into two distinct halves. It makes more sense to speak about the two banks rather than the new town/old town split. Niederdorf, on the east bank, is full of shops and cafés, but also home to the twin towers of the Grossmünster and the grandiose architecture of the university. The west bank is the old part of town, which is centred around the Lindenhof area where the streets are characterised by fashion outlets and offices. The beautiful spires of St. Peters Church and Fraumünster church, decorated by Marc Chagall, are nearby as well.

The curving Bahnhofstrasse follows the course of the ancient city walls and is one of Europe's most prestigious shopping streets. As Switzerland has cultivated stability and neutrality during both World Wars, the country has built up a reputation for its banking system, which for decades has been one of Zürich's biggest industries. It is also for these reasons that today the stock market in Zürich is one of the biggest in the world.

SUSTAINABLE CITY

Evan Bollag/unsplash.com

Zürich is consistently named one of the world's most environmentally conscious cities in the world. The majority of the city's electrical power now comes from renewable energy sources and almost half of the waste gets recycled. Zürich is committed to a 2000-Watt Society plan for radically reducing both energy use and carbon emissions.

The city has a complex approach when it comes to sustainability. Zürich constructions are encouraged to build up and conserve available natural spaces to promote walking and biking within the city. The use of concrete as a building material is reduced to lower carbon emissions. The city has the highest water quality standard in the world, both for drinking and bathing. The air quality is continuously improving — micro-particle emissions have been reduced by 50% in the past 25 years. Zürich greenbelt projects allow free movement of indigenous species throughout the region, maintaining biodiversity.

As a tourist, you can contribute to the sustainability movement by staying in an officially eco-labelled hotel. Finding one is easy since 70% of the hotels are sustainable certified. During your trip, you have all the conditions for walking and biking instead of driving, eating organic food and exploring the natural beauty of the region.

myclimate Audio Adventure

The non-profit foundation myclimate with Swiss roots offers three tours: one for adults, one for teen and one for kids. The goal is to help you discover more about biodiversity, pedestrian-friendly areas and climate protection. All you need to do is download the free app and select one of the stories. The audio recording is about 60 minutes long. You can do the tour on foot, which would take about 2.5 hours, or rent a bike.

For adults: Heat from the river Limmat, biodiversity and new forms of housing.

For teens (over 11 years old): Mia wants to know!

For kids (over 5 years old): The lizard from Zurich Central Station.

Outdoor Swimming

The best way to cool down is by plunging into the clear, refreshing water. All the better if you don't even need to leave the city centre to do it. Zurich offers sandy beaches and grassy area to sunbathe, diving towers, panoramic views of the Alps. Read a book in the shade of the trees, swim in the lake or the river — Zürich has a bathing spot for every taste.

The public bathing traditions on Zürich stem from the Romans. Today, you can find more than 15 open-air baths. Many locations are equipped with showers and changing room.

Uetliberg – Top of Zürich

Uetliberg is called Zurich's very own mountain. The 870 m (2,850 feet) summit gives you views of the city and lake, plus a glimpse of the Alps. You can quickly and easily get to the mountain with the S10 line. There is lots to discover: well-marked hiking and bike routes, the Planet Trail walk that takes you on a tour through a model of our solar system. In the winter, the hiking trail becomes a toboggan run.

Uetliberg is especially popular in November, when the Uto Kulm summit is often above the blanket of fog.

Zürich-West District

Zürich-West transformed from the industrial quarter into the trendy district with an unpolished charm. The area full of offices, apartments, arts venues, cafes and restaurants stretches between the track leading away from Zürich Hauptbahnhof and the Limmat. Factories and shipyards moved away, leaving their vast spaces that creative minds have turned into art, design, food, culture and shopping hotspots, with plenty of scope for architectural experiments.

Check out the design boutiques and market halls nestled in the arches of the railway bridge, known as Im Viadukt. Frau Gerolds Garten is an urban garden, food court and meeting spot. The Freitag Flagship Store with its tower is located here, too.

Swiss Chocolate

Swiss chocolate is beyond comparison. In Zürich, you can try offerings from all the top brands and small artisanal confectionery manufacturers. Take a chocolate walking tour of the city and taste your way through the signature pralines and cakes, as well as the hot chocolate fondue.

Real chocoholics attend workshops to learn about everything from cocoa cultivation to conching, tempering and the artistry of the confectionery craft. You can learn to decorate your own pralines, too.

For a one-stop all-inclusive tour head to Lindt Home of Chocolate with its towering chocolate fountain, museum exhibits on production, as well as hands-on workshops with chocolatiers.

DINING

bonchan/Shutterstock.com

The traditional Zürich cuisine is very rich and usually includes plenty of meat. The city's trademark dish is the Züri Gschnetzlets — diced veal in a creamy mushroom sauce served with Rösti. There are plenty of very good quality restaurants on every corner throughout the city. The area around Bahnhofstrasse generally provides the best atmosphere in the afternoon, while Niederdorf is the place to be for an evening meal.

Kronenhalle

The legendary Kronenhalle's former patrons include big names such as Picasso, Chagall and Miró (whose original paintings still adorn the walls today — chances are, you may be dining within arm's reach from precious artwork). BARS & NIGHTLIFE

Kondor83/Shutterstock.com

The best cafes and bars are located in the area of Niederdorf, especially along the riverside Limmatquai, which is a pleasant place to sit, people watch and enjoy a beverage of choice. Live rock and jazz are available in plenty of venues. The city has a burgeoning local scene that offers rich pickings for live music. There is also a dynamic club scene, which covers the gamut from techno to salsa.

Kaufleuten

Kaufleuten is a large complex in the city centre with bars and clubs, plus a stylish restaurant with European dishes. At night, the club attracts a good mix of hardcore clubbers and young professionals. Kaufleuten was recently voted one of the world's best party venues by Wall Street Journal. Here you should definitely dress to impress.

The main shopping area in Zürich is concentrated around the city centre, which makes it ideal for pedestrians and tourists. The most famous and one of the prettiest of the shopping areas is the Bahnhofstrasse where you will find big department stores, fashion shops, accessories, Swiss watches and everything else your heart desires.

The Bahnhofstrasse area is part of Zürich's banking district, and that is clearly visible in the number of exclusive and upmarket shops available. The area around Langstrasse contains a very cosmopolitan selection of shops and people which makes it a special experience every time you shop or just go there.

The pedestrian alleyways around Niederdorf are a shopper's paradise as there are several boutiques hidden away in a patchwork of alleys. Alongside the River Lammat is the Old Town, which is also a very attractive shopping area. It has fashion shops, jewellery and plenty of other things to offer. It is also in that area of Old town that you will find the smaller and more untraditional shops. It is, for instance, a very good place to find anything antique.

Schiffle is the place to find the craftspeople who sell their handmade products along the river.

Souvenirs

There's no one-stop-shop for all your souvenir shopping needs, but the Tourist Information Office in the Central Station can provide you with the basics like postcards, fridge magnets and cow figurines.

Other typical gifts from Switzerland include cuckoo clocks, cheese fondue sets and Swiss made watches. Need we mention the Swiss Army knife? If you are a fan of edible gifts, go for Gruyère cheese, Swiss chocolate or the famed "Luxemburgerli" macaroons from Sprüngli.

Kids will appreciate a book or anything related to fictional alpine adventures of Heidi — little girl in a milkmaid dress, with braids and a kind heart. She is a classic Swiss character known and loved worldwide.

TOURIST INFORMATION

Rudy Balasko/Shutterstock.com

Passport / Visa

Switzerland can be visited visa-free for up to 90 days by citizens of most European countries, Australia, New Zealand, Japan, South Korea, Taiwan, Malaysia, Israel, UAE and most countries in America. If you are unsure whether or not you need to apply for a visa, we recommend contacting the embassy or consulate in your country. International (non-Schengen) travelers need a passport that is valid for at least 3 months after the end of their intended trip in order to enter the Schengen zone. Citizens of Schengen countries can travel without a passport, but must have a valid ID with them during their stay.

Best Time to Visit

The best season to visit Zurich is definitely summer, particularly from June to August, when temperatures are pleasant and you can enjoy outdoor activities during the sunny days. If you want to visit the city when fewer tourists fill the streets, then spring is the best choice: March to May are the months when temperatures are still not too cold to be uncomfortable.

Zürich Airport (ZRH)

Zürich Airport is voted to be one of the best in the world. It consists of two terminals and they both have a Tourist Information Centre based in the arrivals hall. The airport is situated 11 kilometres outside Zürich and there are several ways of getting into the town centre.

The subterranean train station is directly beneath Terminal B. Trains depart roughly every 10 minutes for the city's main station. You can buy tickets directly from the vending machines that can be found next to the SBB travel centre.

The Glattalbahn, tram number 10, connects the airport and the main railway station. The tram runs every 7 or 15 minutes. Tram number 12 connects the airport and the hub of Stettbach and runs every 15 minutes.

There is a frequent bus service running from the airport. Zürcher Verkehrsverbund (ZVV) has a trip planner on their website.

The taxi rank is located just outside the arrivals terminal 1 and 2. Taxis may be reserved in advance.
